1. Chapter 1

All my life the one thing I wanted I couldn't have, a family. Now you must understand that as much as I love my brothers it's not the same. I was once nothing more then a young girl who was going to get married and have children. But my happily ever after was taken from me by my mother and father. Or so I thoughtâ€¦|

When my mother came back and then died again she left me a letter. Funny that she would after all she was trying to kill us. So I didn't read it, however I did keep it and I've never been happier that I did. Because in that letter was a way for me to have and carry my own child. The spell would give me a human life for one year. So I took the letter and I ran away.

That may seem childish to you but you must understand that my brothers would never have let me use it. For my own safety or just because it would not work on them I don't know. But as time went on and I was carrying my baby I missed them. They should be here for all of this and to meet there niece when she is born. However my fear kept me from saying a word.

And so my year passed. I was once again a vampire but I also had my little girl Margaret. She had blue eyes that could rival the sea and small tufts of brown hair. She was perfect and all I could have ever wanted and more.

2. Chapter 2

*Part 2 ****

Margaret was two months old when my brothers shouldered there way back in to my live, bring with them all of there demands. I had only just gone back to being a vampire, and it wasn't as hard as the first time. Maybe because I knew what was going to happen, maybe my body just knew what to do? Whatever the case it didn't matter, because I was too happy to care. I was living in upstate New York in a big yellow house and fitting in to my new roll of mom when they showed up.

As the house was in my name they could just come right in as they pleased. For the first time in a long time all of my brothers were together save Finn, and it would seem they had been looking for me.

"Rebekah, sister, why did you leave?" Kol asked.

Not to be left out Nik added, "I know you're upset that I killed motherâ€¦"

But I couldn't let him think that, and so even though I feared what would happen, I went up and got my little girl. I could clearly see the surprise looks on there face's. But what surprise me most was what was said.

"Rebekah what did you do?" Elijah asked me.

As if they thought that I had gone mad and taken someone's child. That is one thing I would never do. Not after wanting my own for so long and then being given such a gift.

"I didn't _do _anything but carry and have a child. Margaret meet your uncles Kol, Niklaus and Elijah."

3. Chapter 3

Part 3

My brothers as happy as they were to welcome Margaret into our family and into our lives, they where also very angry with me. They made me show the Mothers letter and this is what it said.

_My Dear Sweet Daughter, _

_ I know that I am the last person that you would want to hear from and I will not try to excuse what I have done save to say that I do love you. I always have and always will. In my fear so long ago I let you father make me turn you and in doing so I took something from you that for a very long time I could not give back. But now I can give you this gift that should never have been taken from you. And I can only hope that you are a better mother then I could have ever hoped to be. So go on and live the life you should have a my sweet girl.

_With all my love, _

_Your mother Ester _

4. Chapter 4

Part 4

I have never been so surprised in my life as when Nik, of all people, smiled at me and said "I'm happy you got what you always wanted little sister." I had spent much of my immortal life with Nik but he had always been the jealous type. Anything that made me happy he would take away for fear that it would make me leave him. For that reason I had always hid behind Elijah when I could. But for once it seemed my brothers had switched roles.

However I knew now that I had little to fear from my brothers. For as ruthless as they could be they would never hurt there young niece. Always & Forever after all. What I did fear was what they would bring with them in to Margaret's life. I never wanted her to feel the fear and pain of being hunted as I and our family had since our rebirth. But for now I put that aside as I wanted them in both of our lives.

A few days after they returned to my life I allowed them to spend time with her with out me so that I could run a few errands. Nik had wanted to spend some time with her and so I left them together for a few hours. I had expected to return home to an unhappy baby and an unhappier brother. But when I walked in the door I was met with a very sweet site.

My brother sat in the rocking char looking down at my sleeping baby with a look of wonder on his face. He looked as if he may cry but the joyful kind of tears. And in that moment I thought that maybe there was hope for us after all.

I didn't know how right and wrong I truly was.
